DIED FOR HIS FAMILY.

J. J. Schwarz Killed Himself that They Might Get His Insurance.

Found Drowned To-Day in the Old Central Park Reservoir.

Had Sought Everywhere for Employment, but in Vain.

Foreman Gilmore, in charge of a gang of Park laborers, while leaning against the south wall of the old reservoir in Central Park this morning, saw what seemed to be the body of a man in the water.

Such it proved to be, and later in the day, when the body was identified as that of Jean Joseph Schwarz, of 500-12 East Eighty-third street, the story of one of the most deliberate and premeditated suicides on record became known.

Schwarz was a man of splendid physique, and he was also a man of intelligence. It was no sudden despair or sickness that caused him to take his life.

It was simply because he could not afford to see his wife and their year-old child go hungry when there was enough insurance on his life to provide for them for some time at least after his death.

In order that they might have the benefit of the insurance money he killed himself. The wife has lost a husband, the child a father, but they will be richer by about $1,500.

Schwarz was a German who had been in this country many years. He was a writer by trade, and was in good standing in his union. He was also a member of the Socialistic Labor party.

About Jan. 1 last he was thrown out of work, and although he searched the city high and low ever afterwards, he could get nothing to do.

He was willing to do anything, and when he heard that the State Legislature had authorized the expenditure of $1,000,000 to provide work for the poor he applied for a position as laborer in the park.

Even in that, however, he failed, and bitterly he told his wife that he would require political influence to obtain it.

In order to obtain work made up his mind to obtain it by other means. He had written for his insurance. His last dollar had been spent when on Tuesday last he attended a meeting of his union.

On leaving that place he deliberately made up his mind to kill himself. Going to a friendly store he procured pen, ink and paper, and wrote a last farewell to his wife.

It was written in German and couched in most tender language. It said, among other things, that by the time she received the letter he would not be among the living.

It told about his insurance and what she should do to collect the money. When the letter was written he took it to the door of his own home. There he must have faltered.

He feared to go upstairs, as if a sight of his wife and the child to whom he was so much attached would shake his resolution.

Instead of going upstairs to the neat little flat on the third floor he dropped the letter in a rain pipe and hastened away. The letter was found by his wife next morning.

He must have gone once towards Central Park and to the reservoir, as the police found the body of a man in a crowd of nearly four feet high and then walk forward about ten feet.

The wall of the bank slopes down to the water's edge, and is built of jagged rock. When he jumped his clothing must have caught some one's eye, and the body was held there, just a little under the water. When found it was bruised considerably.

Policeman Nevin, who had been called to the scene by Foreman Gilmore this morning, promptly notified the Coroner. He also summoned the dead woman, and the remains were taken to the Morgue.

Mr. Schwarz was a man of about 35 years of age, of medium height, and was very clean and neat. She is of her home life and how good her husband had been.

She will receive altogether about $1,500. He was insured in Germany Temple No. 2, a Templar of Liberty of America for $1,000, and in other friendly organizations for the balance.

The wife called at the Morgue later and identified the body.

DIDN'T INTEND SUICIDE.
Julia Langer Mistook Carbolic Acid for Toothache Drops.

Julia Langer, twenty years old, of 21 Delancey street, was arraigned before Justice Koch in Essex Market Court to-day for attempting suicide.

She was found sick in her room last night and admitted having taken a dose of carbolic acid. Julia was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where, after several hours' hard work, her life was saved.

Julia told Justice Koch that she was suffering from a severe toothache yesterday and that she accidentally took a dose of carbolic acid by mistake for toothache drops. She declared that she had no reason for taking forty grains of the poison, and that she gave the fatal dose to herself and that she gave the fatal dose to herself and that she gave the fatal dose to herself.

Three Tired of Life.
WILLIAMSBURG, Pa., May 14.—Jacob M. Lowe, of Perry county, committed suicide here yesterday by cutting his throat with a pocket-knife. He was found in a lumber-yard slowly bleeding to death.

BORACHSON WAS A SUICIDE.
Dead Body Found Three Weeks After He Shot Mrs. Alschwang.

The body of a dead man was found of North Fourth street, Williamsburg, this morning was identified shortly afterwards by Mrs. Mary Alschwang, of 75 Jackson street, as that of Leopold Borachson.

Several months ago Borachson went to board with the Alschwangs at the above address. They had had two boarders before, but had to get rid of them because they made love to Mrs. Alschwang.

Borachson did the same. He wanted Mrs. Alschwang to elope with him. She is a German Catholic, but Borachson agreed to become a Catholic for her sake.

When Borachson found that his wooing had no effect upon her he said he would kill her and himself some day.

Three weeks ago Saturday, when her husband was out, Borachson called and repeated his request, and when Mrs. Alschwang refused he shot her in the chin. She fell down, and it is supposed he thought he had killed her.

The body had been in the water for several weeks, and it is thought Borachson drowned himself on the night he shot the woman, as he had not been seen since that occurrence.

Borachson's identification was made possible through papers found in his pockets. He had Kings County Savings Bank book #666, a gold watch and chain, a pocketbook containing $6.15 and a bill for a Singer sewing-machine. The police are confident that Borachson committed suicide, as no marks of violence were found on the body.

SAVED FROM SUICIDE.
Mary McKenize Had Hysterics When She Couldn't Drown Herself.

Mary McKenize, of 281 Jackson street, Long Island City, is in the Eastern District Hospital, Williamsburg, to-day suffering from an attack of hysterics.

When she recovers she will be prosecuted for attempted suicide.

The woman was a passenger on the Grand street ferry-boat Warren and when the boat was nearing the Williamsburg slip at 10 o'clock this morning she attempted to leap into the river. A clerk-hand grabbed her just as she was climbing over the rail and dragged her back.

When the boat reached her slip the woman was turned over to the care of the police, but upon being attacked with hysterics she refused to give any reason for her attempted suicide.

HANGING IN HIS CELLAR.
Aged Joseph Speckelbrink's Body Discovered Too Late.

Joseph Speckelbrink, sixty-three years old, of 532 Sixth avenue, Brooklyn, committed suicide at an early hour this morning by hanging himself to a beam in the cellar of his home. When discovered, at 4:30 o'clock, he had been dead for several hours.

The old man had been ill a long time, and had become despondent. Coroner Keene was notified.

ALL AGAINST BRECKINRIDGE.
Meeting at Lexington to Preserve Ashland District's Honor.

(By Associated Press.)
LEXINGTON, Ky., May 14.—The meeting at the Opera-house this afternoon to protest against Breckinridge's candidacy will avoid the appearance of favoring any opposing candidate, and neither Owens nor Settle will be present.

Judge Jere R. Morton will preside, and among the speakers announced are Judge Durham, Comptroller of the Treasury in Cleveland's first Administration, Gen. Sam Hill, Adjutant-General of Kentucky under Gov. Buckner, and Prof. McGraw, of Kentucky University.

Secrets of leading women will occupy boxes and seats in the house. Over the stage is a banner inscribed, "Let the honest man be elected." The meeting will be held at 4 o'clock.

This is a county Court day and the city is crowded. The Opera-house will be packed with a representative audience.

HARRISON LEAVES FOR HOME
Departure of the Ex-President After a Ten Days' Visit.

Ex-President Harrison left the city at 2 o'clock this afternoon for his home in Indiana. He spent ten days in the city on private business, according to his own statement, "to nurse a boom for '96," the politicians say.

Mr. Harrison spent the morning in the privacy of his apartment at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. He arose at 9 o'clock and breakfasted alone, except for a Mr. Perrin along with the company.

Finishing his morning refreshment he returned to his apartment, where he remained until 1 o'clock, when he went out for a walk in the cool shade of the trees of Madison Square Park, which he had enjoyed since morning and apparently enjoyed so much.

MRS. CLEVELAND IN BUFFALO
President's Wife with Her Babies Visiting Her Mother.

(By Associated Press.)
BUFFALO, May 14.—At noon to-day the President's wife and babies arrived at the Central station, where they were met by the home of Mrs. Cleveland's mother, Mrs. Henry E. Perrin, Bowdies the two babies, Ruth and Esther. Mrs. Cleveland was accompanied by two maids.

The hour of arrival was not generally known, and there was no crowd at the station. Mr. Perrin alone met the distinguished party and escorted them to the Perrin residence on Elmwood avenue.

THE FIREMEN ARE CRITICISED.

Commissioner Wurster to Investigate the Alleged Delay in Responding to the Alarm.

It looked this morning as though the Brooklyn Tabernacle, which for the third time was destroyed by fire yesterday, would not be rebuilt, but by noon the situation changed very materially.

Dr. Louis Klopsch, editor of the Christian Herald, and Superintendent of the Tabernacle Sunday-School, is authority for the statement that a new edifice will arise from the ashes of the Tabernacle at a very early day.

The woman was a passenger on the Grand street ferry-boat Warren and when the boat was nearing the Williamsburg slip at 10 o'clock this morning she attempted to leap into the river. A clerk-hand grabbed her just as she was climbing over the rail and dragged her back.
